Submission Abstract

In contrast to the much examined vitamin D as a determinant of BMD, calcium, the essential study brought focus on the osteoporosis epidemiological context. This research explores the impact of individual osteoporosis prevention on the success of BMDs in Postmenopausal Women. The study explores the role of vitamin D, parathyroid hormone-related peptide, hypercalcemia, bone resorption, and calcium metabolism. Based on 1000 women, abstract through a random sample of osteoporosis BMD, multiple variables analysis was conducted to determine. The study indicates that calcium supplementation can significantly increase BMD, reduce fracture risk, and improve bone density. The study also indicates that calcium supplementation can significantly increase BMD, reduce fracture risk, and improve bone density.

Submission Abstract

"Analytics companies develop the ability to support their decisions through analytic reasoning using a variety of statistical and mathematical techniques. Thomas Devoulet in his book titled, "Competing on analytics: The new science of winning", claims that a significant proportion of high-performance companies have high analytical skills among their personnel. On the other hand, a recent study has also revealed that more than 50% of the organizations do not have information required for decision-making. Learning "Data Analysis with R" not only adds to existing analytics knowledge and methodology but also equips with exposure into latest analytics techniques including forecasting, social media analytics, text mining & so on. It gives an opportunity to work on real time data from Twitter, Facebook & other social networking sites.

Abstract

Intelligent computer defines the ability to support their decisions through analytic reasoning using a variety of statistical and mathematical techniques. Thomas H. Davenport in his book titled, "Competing on analytics: The new frontier of winning," claims that a significant number of high performance organizations have high analytical skills among their executives. On the other hand, a recent study has also revealed that more than 50% of the organizations are still low performers in terms of their decision-making. Learning from Analytics with R™ has only added to existing analytical knowledge and expertise. This book is written with a unique low-level analytics techniques including forecasting, spatial events analysis, and network analysis. It gives an opportunity to work on real-time data from Twitter, Facebook & other social networking sites.

Manufacturing Factor Analysis of Likert Scale Data

Keywords
Likert scale, factor analysis, validity, multi-rate data analysis

Abstract
Despite the academic value of factor analysis (FA) on Likert scale data, its statistical legitimacy has been relentlessly questioned by professional statisticians. This article reviews relevant literature and proposes a statistically appropriate method of getting most out of FA on Likert scale. The review shows that a larger sample size is an important consideration in improving the appropriateness of FA on Likert scale in terms of normality, homoscedasticity and loading. Further, a 7-point or greater scale is essential to normally, an alpha level of 0.01 or 0.005, psychometric correlation instead of Pearson's are required to improve the statistical appropriateness of the test of Likert scale. Moreover, using non-parametric alternatives like GDFPCA to verify the results of FA greatly increased the overall value and validity of the test.

Title
Factors affecting Delay in Agricultural Loan Recovery among Small Scale Farmers in Sahiwal Region Pakistan

Email
ms@management-sciences.com

Abstract
The utilization of agricultural credit affects repayment behavior of farmers and in turn leads towards non-performing loans (NPLs). The NPLs decrease profitability of banks and decrease financial credibility and reputation of farmers. This paper aims to determine the factors which may influence delay in loan repayment among small scale farmers in Sahiwal zone, Pakistan. Proportional random sampling technique has been adopted by which 110 defaulter were randomly selected from 11 branches of Zariq Tarapur Bank (ZTB), which is a leading agriculture development bank of Pakistan. In addition, 30 credit officers were selected from each branch of ZTB. The primary data was collected through survey of credit officers and small-scale borrowers using structured questionnaires. Finally, the data was summarized using descriptive statistics. The results indicate that input prices, non-farm expenses, high interest rate, loan beneficiary is different, Bank's SLM policy are major reasons of bank default among small scale farmers. The findings are important for banks management and those involved in policy making related to effective utilization of agriculture credit and reduction in NPLs in agriculture sector in Pakistan.

Abstract
 Analytics companies develop the ability to support their decisions through analytic reasoning using a variety of statistical and mathematical techniques. Thomas H. Davenport in his book titled, "Competing on analytics: The new science of winning" claims that a significant proportion of high performance companies have high analytical skills among their personnel. On the other hand, a recent study has also revealed that more than 95% of the organizations do not have education required for decision-making. Learning Data Analysis with its own way adds to existing analytics knowledge and methodology, but also helps with exposure into latest analytics techniques including forecasting, social media analytics, text mining & more. It gives an opportunity to work on real time data from Twitter, Facebook & other social networking sites.
